India shoots down Pak F-16 fighter jet

- All airspace close to border with Pakistan indefinitely shut down
- Pak planes violate Indian airspace; chased by IAF fighters
- Indian pilots battle-ready; can take off in two minutes

New Delhi, Feb. 27 (UNI)- India has shot down a Pakistani F-16 fighter jet that violated Indian airspace in Jammu and Kashmir this morning. The F-16 was shot down in Indian retaliatory fire three kilometres within Pakistani territory. A parachute was seen as the F-16 went down, and the pilot's condition was unknown.

High-level sources in Jammu and Kashmir confirmed that three Pakistan F-16s crossed the Line of Control (LoC) briefly. Pakistani fighter jets were pushed back by the Indian Air Force (IAF) fighters. There was also an attempt made to hit an ammunition dump in the region, but there was no damage. A Sukhoi-30MKi was seen chasing Pakistan's F-16 on the Line of Control in Nowshera sector

A top official said: "Three jets entered into Indian airspace over Nowshera sector this morning. They were immediately pushed back by Indian jets on air patrol." But Major General Asif Ghafoor, a spokesperson for Pakistan's Armed Forces said, "We did not have any F-16 for India to shoot down. We do not want war. We want to take a path that leads to peace."

JETS DROP BOMBS

Added to the F-16s, a couple of Pakistani jets violated Indian airspace in J&K's Nowshera, Poonch and Rajouri sectors and dropped bombs on their way out. The violation comes a day after India struck a terror camp in Pakistan's Balakot in an operation described as "non-military" and "pre-emptive".

Police sources in Rajouri said that Pakistani fighters dropped bombs at Nadian, Laam Jhangar, and Kerri in Rajouri district and Hamirpur area of Bhimber Galli in Poonch, at about 10.00 am. The Indian jets seen in air, are still patrolling the area. Local residents have reported that they witnessed one Pakistani jet go up in flames across the LoC.

IAF Chopper crashes in J&K; two bodies found

Srinagar, Feb. 27 (UNI)- A day after the Indian Air Force strike in Pakistan, a military transport helicopter — Mi-17V-5 — crashed in Budgam district of Jammu and Kashmir. Two bodies have been found, said the Police.

Four persons, including two pilots, were inside the IAF chopper at the time of crash.

Reports also said that all the four persons might have been killed. Official confirmation on the number of deaths is yet to come. The chopper had taken off from Awantipora airbase and crashed because of technical fault and weather.

The chopper crashed in an open field near Garend Kalaan village in Budgam at 10.05 am. The chopper broke into two and caught fire immediately, the officials said.

The crash took place in the backdrop of heavy shelling and firing from across the border on a day IAF fighter jets crossed the Line of Control and destroyed a vast terror camp within Pakistan in a pre-dawn strike.

Visuals showed the wrecked fuselage in flames and a large number of villagers standing around it. The helicopter is a Russian made Mi-17.

Dimensions of Development

The countries of the world continue to be divided into two major categories, namely developed and developing. The latter class of countries, including India, earlier were wearing the uncomplimentary identity as underdeveloped. This seemingly honourable portrayal of these countries from under-developed to developing owes it to the patronising outlook of the functionaries in high posts in the United Nations and its different arms such as World Health Organisation, Food and Agricultural Organisation (to lead international efforts to defeat hunger), United Nation's Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation, United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (established in 1964 as a permanent inter-governmental body dealing with trade, investment and development issues). As if to mimic the world body, the government has adopted the practice of classifying the States of the country into three classes, namely class A, class B and class C for administrative reasons, more than any other. One such purpose is to fix the rates of allowances that are paid to employees in different Departments of the government along with their basic monthly salary, a feature that leaves the rest of the population red-faced. That is one dimension of development, as perceived in circles of the government employees.

The message of global well-being in the lines drawn from Mangala Mantra (Swasthi prajaabhyah paripaalayantaam nyaayenamaargena...) meaning: May the well-being of all people be protected by the powerful and mighty leaders with law and justice... To what extent this ancient prescription has been realised by which section of India's people is the question that is begging for an answer.

Going by the regularly published data and information by government sources, no matter who are at the helm, one cannot help conceding that India is steadily inching towards earning the developed-country tag, the latest disclosure being that India is currently the world's third biggest economy. But there are many other parameters that have to be reckoned with which mocks at the exalted image of the land, namely (a) unemployment, (b) disease burden, (c) unviable income of the major sections in the population, (d) crime rates that are not showing signs of abating and so on. The Central team that surveyed the country's cities for rating their level of cleanliness is said to have noted the features under 36 parameters. Parameters to be reckoned for determining the status of development in respect of the country in general and its constituent States in particular have per force to include the parameter of well-being of the last citizen of the land.

Glitz and glamour of urban spaces are only one face of development. The slums that host a substantial portion of every city's space, reckoned at 20 percent of the total headcount in each city, marked by the insanitary living spaces stoking diseases mock at the development ignoring the dimensions yet to be addressed.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Even with the best diplomacy, the best policy, and the best-intentioned engagement, there is no foolproof way to prevent terrorism – not even with the best allocation of resources, the best technology, and the best intelligence. Ask the United States. Ask the United Kingdom. Ask Spain. The best that these "bests" can do is minimise terrorism – and they do. But when one part of the country suffers disproportionately from terrorist attacks, causing a disproportionate loss of armed forces personnel, it is fair to say that we are not giving it our best. — Mitali Saran in Business Standard

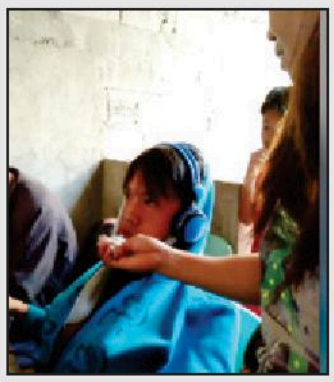
Paddle-board saves time

Chongqing: A resident of Chongqing in China, who works as an insurance agent has cut down his travel time from one hour to six minutes by paddle-boarding across the Yangtze River every morning.

29-year-old Liu Fucao, who sells insurance in Chongqing's Wanzhou District, lives on the other side of the Yangtze River, the longest river in Asia and used to drive or catch a bus to work like everyone else. When the authorities took up maintenance work on the bridge, his daily commute got longer than usual. It would take him an hour or more to get to work, and at one point he just couldn't stand being stuck in traffic for so long.

He has been paddle-boarding competitively for two years, and one day he decided to use it as an alternative means of transportation. It took him less than six minutes to paddle from one side of the river to the other, so he's been doing it every morning since then.

Mother hand-feeds teenager



Nueva Ecija: A video of a mother going to an internet cafe to hand-feed her 13-year old son because he refuses to end his 48-hour gaming binge to eat has gone viral on the internet.

37-year-old Lilybeth Marvel first noticed something wrong with her son Carlito about two years ago, when he began staying up late at an internet cafe near the family home in Nueva Ecija, Philippines. Things got worse to the point where here son now spends days with his eyes glued to a monitor playing his favorite video game. Last week, Marvel was filmed delivering her son's breakfast to the internet cafe and hand feeding him while he continued to play, because he had been there for over 48 hours.

Make NCC mandatory

Sir,

This is with reference to Vikram Muthanna's article titled 'Give NCC a Try' in Star of Mysore dated Feb.23. It is a good call to our young generation to build up patriotism and discipline through NCC.

Now-a-days expressing patriotism has become a fashion and restricted to selected days, wherein one can see insincere display for publicity only.

Further, a call to our politicians and VIPs to send their children to NCC is a wise suggestion. Politicians who run schools and colleges must introduce NCC at their institutions and give encouragement to the students who join NCC by giving concessions in donations and fees, and also request younger generation to serve NCC voluntarily.

I am proud to say that I served NCC for six years in High School and College attending five camps, obtaining 'C' certificate, but failed in Defence Selection Committee ! But that training has however helped me to lead a disciplined life even today.

However, it is a matter of great concern that the number of youths losing their way during student days itself is growing by the day.

In this backdrop, the Centre should seriously consider making NCC compulsory for at least two years, so that students can learn discipline, nationalism, etc., apart from getting appropriate guidance on leading life.

The State Government too can play its part by providing reservation to NCC trained high school students in admission to PUC and thus make NCC an attractive choice for students.

The Defence Department already has NCC Authority under its belt. The Government must publicise and further promote NCC by granting more funds to it.

Convex mirrors to prevent blind spot accidents

*THEN AND NOW: A mirror that was earlier installed at "T Junction" near Sri Ramakrishna Vidyashala at Yadavagiri is missing now.

The mirror that has been installed near a park at Jayalakshmipuram. Picture right shows similar mirror near City Police Commissioner's residence 'Ridge House' in Nazarbad.

Mysuru, Feb.27 (RK&BCT)- The Police and some private companies have installed Traffic Convex Oval Mirrors at various 'T Junctions' in city where blind turns were increasing the possibility of accidents.

A convex mirror, or simply put a curved mirror, is a mirror in which the reflective surface bulges toward the light source. The surface of a curved mirror can be convex, which means bulging outward, or concave, bulging inward. A convex mirror reflects the light outwards and is therefore not used to focus light.

Usually, these mirrors are mounted to a wall or ceiling at points where hallways cross each other or make a sharp turn. This eliminates blind spots and provides people with a good overview of their surroundings.

The convex mirror is also used to provide safety for motorists on roads, driveways and in alleys where there is a blind spot or where the driver has limited visibility.

Traffic Convex Oval Mirrors have been installed at various 'T Junctions' where three roads meet. Some of the places they have been installed are near City Police Commissioner's Office - Nazarbad, KSRTC Depot - Bannimantap, near Sri Ramakrishna Vidyashala at Yadavagiri, near Vasanth Mahal (Government Teachers Training Institute) - Nazarbad, BSNL Training Institute at T.K. Layout, two entry points of Infosys campus at Hebbal, near Rani Bahadur auditorium in Manasagangothri and near Mahajana Park in Jayalakshmipuram.

As many 'T Junctions' were sharp and dangerous where accidents take place frequently, a decision was taken to install the convex mirrors at these critical spots. "Based on the inspection taken out by the Police and their field report, convex mirrors have been installed at many places," said a senior traffic Police officer.

According to him, mirrors would help truck drivers easily spot the vehicles coming from the opposite direction and avoid collisions. A detailed survey will be conducted by the Police to identify a few more junctions to install such mirrors, he added.

While the initiative of the City Police to install such mirrors is over 10 years old, many private companies have come forward to install such convex mirrors at road intersections. While this is a novel step to prevent accidents, some of the mirrors have been stolen overnight by miscreants.

At some places they have been broken. The mirror that has been installed on Bogadi Road where four roads meet near Mata Amritanandamayi Circle at Vijayanagar Third Stage has been taken away by miscreants after cutting the metal hinges.

A mirror that was installed near Yadavagiri's Sri Ramakrishna Vidyashala 'T Junction' has been removed now and so is the mirror that was installed near Rani Bahadur auditorium.

These mirrors form an integral part of traffic streamlining in city. While mirrors that have been installed inside the campuses of IT companies are put to maximum use, mirrors that have been installed at public 'T Junctions' desperately need protection from vandalism and theft. The role of Resident Welfare Associations and the jurisdictional Traffic Police Stations is important here.

Miscreants in the guise of Police rob senior citizens

Mysuru, Feb.27 (MK&KS)- In separate incidents, miscreants in the guise of Police officials have robbed two senior citizens of their gold jewels worth about Rs.71,000 in city yesterday.

In the first incident, 62-year-old Rangaswamy, a resident of Aravindanagar, was walking near Mahadeshwaraswamy Temple in the locality at about 10.30 am, when two miscreants in the guise of Police officials approached him and introduced themselves as Police officials. They (miscreants) told Rangaswamy that there has been an increase in chain snatching incidents in city and asked him not to wear gold jewels while walking alone.

The miscreants asked him to remove his gold chain and finger ring and the miscreants kept the gold ornaments in a handkerchief, tied a knot, gave it back to Rangaswamy and left the place. When Rangaswamy went home and opened the knot of the handkerchief, he did not find his gold ornaments in it and came to know that he was robbed.

In the second incident, 70-year-old Dattatri, a resident of Jayanagar 13th Cross and a retired employee of BEML, has been robbed in the same way when he was proceeding on the 11th Cross in Jayanagar. The miscreants have robbed him of his eight gram gold chain.

India should have reacted soon after 26/11: Pratap Simha

Mysuru, Feb. 27 (SPN&BCT)- After the night of Nov. 26 in 2008 when Pakistan terrorists carried out bomb blasts and opened indiscriminate fire at innocent people at Taj Hotel and other areas in Mumbai, India should have struck harder, said Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha.

"We are still nursing old wounds. We went soft on terrorists and we let the survivors suffer. The then Union Government did not act on terror. Had our forces attacked Pakistan after the Mumbai attack, India would have been in a much better position now, the MP said at the Vijayotsava held at Kote Anjaneyaswamy Temple here last evening.

The event was organised by Yuva Brigade and pro-Hindu organisations to mark India's pre-dawn air strikes on Pakistan-based Jaish-e-Mohammad (JeM) terror camps at Balakot and other locations. A bike rally too was held on the occasion where pro-India slogans were raised. "For 70 years, Pakistan has been sponsoring various terror groups with a single-minded agenda to destroy peace in India. So far we have been soft on Pakistan, but not anymore," the MP said.

"The Indian Air Force (IAF) was ready to take revenge for 2008 Mumbai terror attacks but the then United Progressive Alliance (UPA) government 'blocked' any further action on the surgical strike option that was meant to teach terror-sponsor Pakistan a lesson," he alleged.

"IAF had the plan as well as capability to hit the terror-training camps in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir in 2008, but the then UPA government never gave the necessary nod," he added.

Expressing concerns over the heightened tension between India and Pakistan, Pratap Simha said that Pakistan is now bound to take "urgent and meaningful action" against terrorist groups in its territory, including JeM which has claimed responsibility for Pulwama attack. "Pakistan must do everything possible to implement its own proscription of JeM. It can no longer allow extremist groups the legal and physical space to operate from its territory," he said.

The MP lauded the Prime Minister Narendra Modi and the Defence Forces for the daring attack that has taught Pakistan a lesson not to meddle with India. "Pakistan will now think hundred times before launching a terror attack on India. Today, all Indians are proud of our PM and the Air Force," he added.

At another event held at Kote Anjaneyaswamy Temple to mark the Indian air strikes, crackers were burst by pro-Hindu organisations and cheered the Indian government and Defence Forces for giving a befitting reply to Pak.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka gives tips on hand-rearing and rehabilitating a squirrel; How to bring the disappearing sparrows back to our cities.

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

How can we bring the disappearing sparrows back to our cities?

The disappearance of sparrows, which once could be found in every nook and corner, is another warning sign against the rapid urbanisation and destruction of natural habitat in the name of development. I don't think we can stop the decline. But in areas which have a few sparrows left, they should be encouraged to stay:

• Sparrows need crevices or holes to build their nests. Build artificial nests/ bird houses for them.

• If you have any opening in your balcony/ terrace, where sparrows can build their nest, don't block it.

• Build bird-baths, it helps them rejuvenate.

• Offer roti, fruit, rice to the birds.

• Another major reason why sparrows are declining in number is non-availability of insects and microbes they feed upon. Kitchen waste could be transformed into bio-manure and the decomposition would help in the development of microbes that these birds feed on.

• Plants and hedges, that are native to the place, should be grown. This encourages sparrows to come back.

What are some things I should know while hand-rearing and rehabilitating a squirrel?

Babies are called pinkies and young ones are called kits.

Weeks 1-6: The pinkies must be kept warm for the first few weeks of their life. They should be fed small amounts of milk and Cerelac multiple times a day. The number of feeds go down as it grows but the quantity increases. Solid food can be carefully and gradually started during Week 5.

Weeks 7-8: The kits will play-fight a lot at this age and this hones their fighting ability. Fresh foods and nuts should be given as feeds, but just three times a day. The squirrels achieve 70% of their total growth by the end of week 8. It is essential that they get plenty of exercise for muscle development, co-ordination and learning.

2-4 Months: Habitat enrichment should be undertaken by moving some furniture and hiding food so that they explore further. The process of rehabilitation and soft release happens at this age. Their playground must be outdoors for a few hours but under strict supervision.

What are the things I should keep in mind while releasing a squirrel?

Soft Release (Animal is familiarised gradually to a new environment) — Soft release is ideal for hand-raised young.

Make sure the texture of the apartment structure is rough surfaced. The squirrel must be three months old to be released to run on walls.

Hard Release (Animal is released without it being accustomed) — It is preferred for rescued adult squirrels.

Make sure that the site of the release is in the vicinity of ample fruits/ nuts. The squirrel mustn't be released any later than midday especially in winter.

We found baby squirrels in our chimney-exhaust. Should we adopt them?

The primary reason why squirrels build their nests in the chimneys is because they think it will provide them protection from the outside world, especially during winters.

If the squirrels are still in the chimney, do not, under any conditions, switch it on.

If the squirrel family has been living there, then the mother squirrel probably knows a way in and out. Wait for the mother squirrel to exit and then block the entry so that she cannot come back in.

Evict the squirrel nest, including the babies. Squirrel babies are usually capable of looking after themselves at 12 weeks. If the babies in the nest are very young (no hair, pinkish appearance), place them in a cardboard box with cotton bedding.

Place the box some place where the mother can find them. Leave the box undisturbed. Most likely, the mother will relocate her babies to a newer nest at a safer place. To ensure that squirrels don't build a nest in your chimney again, block all entries and use a chimney cap.

Welcome with bird-friendly gardens...

Papamoscas... Gobemouche... Tickellblauschnapper... as this blue and yellow bird, about the size of a sparrow, is called in Spanish, German and French respectively, which recently moved in to human habitations, like home gardens and parks — since two years, from its original habitat of lakeside and riverside bamboo thickets and shrubs, is called in Common English as Tickell's Blue Flycatcher and Cyornis tickelliae in Ornithology.

Visitors to Ranganathittu Bird Sanctuary, as they enter the paths leading into the boating area and the surrounding riversides, are very likely to be greeted with a sweet tweeting song with polyphonic notations, but the singer remains elusive, until earnestly searched, in the direction of the sweet songs. It is then one sights this beautiful blue bird with a bright azure head and brows, with rusty reddish-yellow under body, calmly perched on a bamboo branch or the imitation bamboo railing on the paths, singing to itself. A bird that is more heard than seen, which is a delight to hear and see both.

The Tickell's Blue Flycatcher carries the scientific name Cyornis — in Greek meaning KUANOS - dark blue + Ornis meaning bird (Cyornis), tickelliae the specific name, named after Col. Samuel Richard Tickell (1811-1875), an Officer of the British Army in India, who was an author on nature, a field Ornithologist and an artist par excellence, the person who first discovered the species and categorised them. Many species of birds in India are named after this Naturalist.

Recently (since two years exactly), these blue birds, the Tickell's Blue Flycatchers have been sighted in home gardens also in Mysuru. These birds are shy and avoid human interference. But they visit home gardens, in recent times and if they find a Bamboo thicket closeby, they even nest there. As the very name suggests, these are insectivorous birds and forage on Insects and insect grubs. Gleaning the insects off the underside of leaves and twigs, these birds are very fond of bathing.

A birdbath placed in shade, well protected by shrubs are a sure way to attract these birds to your backyard. Once the birds get used to the home occupants, they get bolder and amuse and enliven the compound with their beautiful songs. Blessed are persons, whose compounds are occupied by these beautiful blue birds. These birds form bonded pairs and both male and female (slightly smaller and lighter in the blue upper parts) dedicate their life to bring up a brood. March to August being their breeding season, both the birds build a nest with plant fibre, dried leaves, cobwebs and raise a clutch of 4-5 eggs. All domestic chores are shared by both the parents.

With our callous attitude and indiscriminate degradation of habitats, specially in our backyards, we have lost the lovable House Sparrows. Now these gracious birds have moved in, they are trying to set down in a new environment, by adapting to the changed conditions.

Let us help ourselves, by helping these birds to feel safe and secure in our environs. These birds being insectivorous may not be able to survive the onslaught of indiscriminate use of pesticides in our gardens. We can help them settle down and thrive in our compounds, by keeping the gardens bird-friendly.

Zoo-Karanji Lake road side fenced; officials unaware

Mysuru, Feb.27 (SBD&BCT)- The road side stretch between Sri Chamarajendra Zoological Gardens (Mysuru Zoo) and Karanji Lake Nature Park has been fenced all of a sudden and no officer seems to be aware of the sudden move.

The road links Nazarbad and Lalitha Mahal Road and already there is fencing on the Karanji Lake side. Now, the Zoo side has been fenced and poles have been erected. But none of the officials are ready to come on record regarding the fencing and they are saying that they have no knowledge about the fencing.

Even the officials from Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) or the Zoo are unaware of the fencing. The road that was very narrow earlier was widened and upgraded recently. Sadly, the widened road was used to dump garbage, construction material and other waste. Residents say that the fencing could have been done to prevent indiscriminate garbage dumping.

Meanwhile, Chamaraja MLA L. Nagendra has said that he was saddened as the MCC had not formulated any plan to revive the Karanji Lake that is going dry at an alarming rate.

Speaking at the MCC Budget meeting held yesterday, the MLA said that water can be drawn to the Karanji Lake through the Golf Club. He also suggested setting up of a Sewage Treatment Plant at the Lake and pump treated water into the Lake.

Devegowda

Mysuru, Feb.27- After much delay, the Rs.545 crore Hale Unduwadi drinking water project, that is aimed at supplying drinking water to the city and 92 villages around the city has finally got administrative approval with the Urban Development Department Under-Secretary S. Veena issuing an order to this effect on Feb.21.

The project, a pet one for District Minister G.T. Devegowda, involves drawing water from KRS backwaters and supplying it directly to households in the city and 92 other villages.

Thanks to the efforts of GTD and the support extended by former MLA Vasu and former city Mayors, the ambitious project has finally taken off.

The Karnataka Urban Water Supply and Drainage Board (KUWS&DB) had submitted the Detailed Project Report (DPR) to the Government, while considering the water needs of the city for the next 30 years.

Although the city has been getting about 250 MLD (Million Litres per Day) daily from Cauvery and Kabini through pumping stations at Belagola (43 MLD), Hongalli 2nd Phase (32 MLD), Hongalli 3rd Phase (50 MLD), Melapura (65 MLD) and Kabini Station (60 MLD), the Hale Unduwadi Project will supplement the water supplies by pumping 300 MLD of water per day to the city and surrounding villages, that will cater to the needs of the city's growing population in the next 30 years.

AIRSPACE SHUT

All airspace at Jammu, Srinagar and Leh, close to the border with Pakistan, has been shut down indefinitely, sources say. Commercial flights have been put on hold. International flights transiting between Indian, Pakistani airspace have been affected. While some flights returning to origin, others appear to be seeking alternate routing. Flights to Amritsar, Pathankot, Chandigarh, Dehradun and Dharamshala have been suspended until further notice.

UPGRADED ALERT

The IAF has upgraded the security alert to the highest level. It has put all fighter bases on the highest alert, and pilots are ready to take off in two minutes.

Pakistan is claiming it has shot down two Indian aircraft "inside Pakistani airspace" and that the Indian Air Force crossed the Line of Control in response to Pakistan Air Force strikes. Major General Asif Ghafoor claimed that one of the aircraft fell in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir and that the other fell in Jammu and Kashmir. One Indian pilot was taken into custody by troops on the ground", he said.

To support his claims, Pakistan has released a video in which a blindfolded man says he is Wing Commander Abhinandan and a pilot, says his service number is 27981 and asks if he is with the Pakistan Army. He says he has a right to know. The Indian government has not yet commented on this video or Pakistan's claim that it arrested two Indian pilots.

WORD OF THE DAY

Syllogism

Pronunciation: SIL-uh-jiz-um

Meaning: A deductive scheme of a formal argument consisting of a major and a minor premise and a conclusion; a subtle, specious, or crafty argument.

Origin: For those trained in formal argument, the syllogism is a classical form of deduction, specifically an argument consisting of a major and a minor premise and a conclusion. One example is the inference that "kindness is praiseworthy" from the premises "every virtue is praiseworthy" and "kindness is a virtue." Syllogism came to English through Anglo-French from Latin syllogismus, which in turn can be traced back to the Greek verb syllogizesthai, meaning "to infer." In Greek logizesthai means "to calculate" and derives from logos, meaning "word" or "reckoning." Syl- comes from syn-, meaning "with" or "together.".

Example: "Plato's pupil Aristotle developed the techniques of logical analysis that still enable us to get at the knowledge hidden within us. He examined propositions by stating possible contradictions and developed the syllogism, a method of proof based on stated premises." — Mary Lefkowitz, The New York Times Book Review, 23 Jan. 2000

PHRASE OF THE DAY

A legend in one's own lifetime

Meaning: 'A legend in their own lifetime' refers to a living person of considerable fame.

Origin: The original use of this phrase was 'a legend in her lifetime', written of Florence Nightingale by Giles Lytton Strachey, in his well-known book Eminent Victorians, 1918: The name of Florence Nightingale lives in the memory of the world by virtue of the lurid and heroic adventure of the Crimea. Had she died - as she nearly did - upon her return to England, her reputation would hardly have been different; her legend would have come down to us almost as we know it today - that gentle vision of female virtue which first took shape before the adoring eyes of the sick soldiers at Scutari. The 'own' is now almost always added to make 'a legend in his/her own lifetime', although I can't help thinking that Strachey's version was better. The associated term 'living legend' derives of course from 'a legend in one's own lifetime'. This term sprang up in the USA in 1939 and immediately grabbed the imagination of writers there.

"Effective communication is the hallmark of good teaching"

Dr. N.N. Prahallada, former faculty of RIE Mysuru, seen with Dr. Nagaraju, Principal, BGS BEd. College, teaching faculty and students.

Mysuru, Feb. 27- Effective communication is the hallmark of good teaching, said Dr. N.N. Prahallada, former faculty, Regional Institute of Education (RIE), NCERT, Mysuru, while orienting the BEd. students of BGS BEd. College, Mysuru, on "Communication Skills" in the College auditorium recently.

He said communication is the process of passing ideas or feelings from one person to another. There are four essential components in the process of communication. They are Sender (S), Message (M), Medium (Md), and Receiver (R). The following are the six steps in the process of communication: 1) Ideation, 2) Encoding, 3) Transmission of the message, 4) Receiving the message, 5) Decoding the message, and in the final step the receiver acts or responds to the message.

The following are the three types of communication: 1) Speaking-Listening 2) Writing-Reading and 3) Visualising - Observing.

Dr. Prahallada further observed that teachers should be pro-active to encourage students instead of criticising, understand instead of judging, and initiate instead of waiting.

Every interaction with teachers is an opportunity to learn. Teachers must inform the students that the mind is not a dustbin to keep anger, hatred, and jealousy rather it is a treasure box to keep love and affection, happiness and sweet memories, he said and added every teacher is a powerful tool to communicate in a meaningful way to help students achieve laurels, he opined.

Dr. Nagaraju, Principal, BGS BEd. College, welcomed.

As many as 180 BEd. students from First and Third semester attended the orientation.

Dr. Sharmista, Faculty, proposed a vote of thanks.
